Wind Plays Havoc with Game of Many Players in First Journey Over the Fox Hills Course.

Dr. A. T. Haight, of Wykagyl, won sol to the New York Athletic Club at heavy rain, will be held over the same Fox Hills yesterday, returning a card of £-40-82, which was two strokes better than the effort of Chisholm Beach, the

Although Dr. Haight began modestly snough with a 6 at the first hole, he reirleved himself at the second with a 4, a stroke under par. The Wykagyl man played consistent golf, equalling par on eight holes and getting under the premier allowance on two occasions.

On the twelfth hole, where a 2 means perfect golf, the doctor was unable to get worse than 5. He had a knack of makng up in one way or another for every lapse, so that his long putt on the eighteenth for a 3 balanced his failure at the High scores ruled, for the reason that there was a stiff wind blowing from off the bay, which on certain holes played havor with the flight of the balls. The urse, however, never appeared in better condition. There were incidents almost without number told as the competitor's sanded in their cards.

James D. Foot, the Apawamis veteran. who rarely takes 9 at any hole, had to new to the inevitable on the sixth, where his fine drive was caught by the breeze and carried into a peck of trouble. He needed 4 strokes to get out. Then he had # 7 at the eleventh, due to the fact that in his first attempt at putting, he never touched the ball, and he was so full of laugh over the incident that his second putt went awry.

ne excitement was caused among the officials at the first tee, when a lone horseman rode across the links. His line of travel was along the ridge of a hill and almost at right angles to the eleventh, thirteenth and fourteenth fairways. Twice more he appeared, and was finally caught by Isaac Mackie, the club profes sional, who proceeded to impress upon him rather emphatically a few things regarding the upkeep of a golf course. There were about forty starters in the tournament, and the number of those who returned cards was insufficient to fill more than two sixteens, so the committee decided to run off the championship set as eriginally intended, with two other divisions of eight. Match play begins this

Washington, October 22.
JUNIOR OFFICERS TO TRAIN EN-LISTED MEN.-The attention of the War Department has been directed to the excellent opportunity it has to make use of graduates from the Military Academy to instruct enlisted men in gymnastic fencing, foll, sabre and bayonet drill. swimming, boxing and wrestling. President Roosevelt's order of 1965 directed the authorities at the Military Academy instruct cadets so that they might qualify they were commissioned as officers

The system of training at the academy considered superior to that in force classes is entirely practical and that of the graduating class is devoted to the practical application of the thories, a view to enabling the members of the class to fit theories to the needs of the service.

It is argued that the man who has been trained to wrestle, fence with a gun or sabre, run, jump, vault and swim will be a far more valuable soldier in field or in action than one who has not had such training The official in charge of the physical training at West Point believes that the training should be intrusted to the graduates of the Military Academy and that the knowledge by the cadet that they would be required to act as in structors would impress them with the seriousness of the training and produc even better results.
